

International Workshop | Hitotsubashi University

Rare materials, digitization, and the role of curators

Talk 1. Pip Willcox, Bodleian Libraries, University of Oxford
The element they lived in: special collections, scholarship, and scale

Talk 2. Keitaro Tokoi, Center for Historical Social Science
Literature, Hitotsubashi University
The conservation of Western historical materials at the Center for Historical Social Science Literature, Hitotsubashi University: past, present, and future

Opening: Toshifumi Yamabe, Director of Hitotsubashi University Library

Closing : Yasunori Fukagai, Director of Yokohama National University Library

Chair : Natsuko Fukuda, Assistant Research Officer, Hitotsubashi
University Library

Fri 12 February 2016, 3-5 pm

Library Conference Room, ground floor of the Clock Tower

✈ Admission Free

✈ Language: English
(partly Japanese)

Hitotsubashi University Library
rd@lib.hit-u.ac.jp

Under the auspices of the Collaborative Research of National Institution of Informatics (principal investigator: Yasunori Fukagai, Director of Yokohama National University Library), and the joint auspices of Center for Historical Social Sciences Literature of the Hitotsubashi University and Hitotsubashi University Library.

photo by David Iliff

